

Cooney Park

Cooney State Park includes 304 acres of land and approximately 780 surface acres of water and is a popular trout and walleye fishery. Cooney, excellent for boating and camping, is 20 miles from the historic town of Red Lodge, at the base of the Beartooth Mountains. Those wishing to explore the park by land can take a stroll on our walking trail.

All park fees go towards state park operations and improvements. Day Use is free for Montana residents, however camping fees are in effect year-round at Cooney. Non-residents pay a $5 day use fee or the camping fee if staying overnight.

The park is open all year. Families can enjoy ice fishing, ice skating, and cross-country skiing during the winter. Hearty souls can winter camp in any of the park's seventy-two campsites for a reduced rate.
